The Boeing Performance Excellence Award 2016

Recaro once again receives prestigious award

SCHWAEBISCH HALL, Germany. Recaro Aircraft Seating was honored with a Boeing Performance Excellence Award. With this award, the Boeing aircraft manufacturer acknowledges its suppliers' outstanding achievements every year.

Recaro Aircraft Seating, the German aircraft seat manufacturer from Schwaebisch Hall, was given the prestigious award for its high-level reliability, among other achievements. Every month during the period from October 2015 to September 2016, Boeing awarded the seat specialist a positive "Composite Performance Rating."

With Boeing's Performance Excellence Award, the OEM is honoring Recaro Aircraft Seating this year once again for its outstanding performance as a supplier and, above all, for its continuity and consistency in terms of delivery and quality.

The two companies have enjoyed a close collaboration for more than 17 years. In 2016 alone, Recaro's production facility in Fort Worth, Texas, delivered some 14,000 seats to Boeing's Seattle and Charleston locations.

The prestigious award enjoys a high profile year after year, and is of great importance to both aircraft suppliers and airlines.
